

The back page... Sunday, 12th August 2018

As many as 8.4 million people across the UK are living in households that struggle to put enough food on the table. Many children are going hungry during the school holidays because they do not have the free school meals they are entitled to in term time.

Worshipping communities across the UK are responding to this hunger crisis by helping to run food banks, lunch clubs, community larders and more. These are important practical responses, providing essential support to millions of people facing tough times. But food aid in and of itself is not a long-term solution to food poverty; there is also the need to ask why people are going hungry in the first place.

The End Hunger UK campaign has a vision of a UK in which everyone has access to good food and no one needs to go to bed hungry. See more at: <http://endhungeruk.org/>

For those on holiday...

We wish you a relaxing and enjoyable break from school, university and work!

For those going away, we wish you safe travels and hope that you will return home refreshed and ready to go!

Lesley will begin her walk to Scotland on Monday, 27th August. If anyone would like to accompany her, part way or for the 14 miles to Harrow on her first day, please let her know.

Summer reading...?

The next meeting of the KURC Book Club is on Tuesday, 21st August so there is still time to read the next book which is Somerset Maugham's 'The Razors Edge'.

What's on...?

Monday 13th August

- 1.45pm (Mon-Fri) BBC Radio4 - How to Disagree. A beginner's guide to having better arguments.
- 8.30pm BBC Radio4 - Crossing Continents. Euthanasia in Holland.

Wednesday 15th August 8pm BBC Radio4 – Across the Red Line. Is assisted dying morally wrong?